

Icebreaker Teambuilding Haka Workshop

Energise

Motivate

Broad appeal

Unique Experience

 Duration:
Approx. 1 hour

 Location:
Nationwide

 Group Size:
10-500

This traditional and ancient Maori tribal dance acts as a powerful conference energiser, or as a fantastic team building activity. It brings people together and gives them a shared experience that they will certainly never forget!

Made famous by the New Zealand All Blacks Rugby team, the Haka is an ancient and sacred dance. It can be a war cry or a challenge, but it is also performed to welcome distinguished guests or to acknowledge great occasions, achievements or birthdays and is even performed at funerals.

Just as guests are getting comfortable in the conference room, they hear the roar of 'The Call' ... the loud and exciting opening chant of the lead tribesmen. Suddenly the team storm the room. They then perform the KaMate 'Haka' in full traditional Maori tribal wear to the delight (and surprise) of your guests.

Your group will experience 100% Maori passion from our Haka Masters some of whom are distant descendants of the original tribesmen who wrote this Haka. The Haka is sacred to our Masters and you can see from their performance what it means to them – it really is spine tingling. Following their performance, it's your turn!

Our Haka tribesmen will teach your group the words, meanings and actions of the Haka before joining you in a group performance. We will split the group and each team will battle to deliver the louder, more impassioned Haka.

What's Included:

-  Traditional HAKA Master(s)
-  Event management & instruction

Optional Extras:

-  Event Photography or Filming
-  Face paints to get participants looking like true Maori Warriors