A new take on our classic Murder Mystery Event, through the power of 'Zoom' our actors create a scene to virtually bring your teams together.

An hour prior to the show, your group will be sent clues to examine before our lead detective brings you onto the case. This event is a tongue-in-cheek evening of dastardly double entendre and insidious innuendo. Our professional actors will have you laughing and musing in equal measure, scratching your heads as you try to figure out whodunnit!

During the event your group is split into teams and separated into virtual break out rooms, our actors will visit each team for questioning throughout. But who can you trust? Nothing is quite as it seems – everyone has a motive but who has an alibi...?

With cunning costumes and realistic props you'll be immersed in this crime caper. To round off the show, each team shows off their sleuthing skills, suggesting who they think did it – murderer, motive and method.

We have a number of superb scripts listed below:

- The Reading of The Will (1920s) – a traditional murder mystery based on the will of a deceased aristocrat.
- Little House of Horrors – the UK launch of a Hollywood film, a surprise horror genre hit funded by some interesting parties.
